innovaphone Application Sharing:

Simple and efficient collaboration

Working together has never been more efficient, easier or faster than it is now when using innovaphone Application Sharing - also remotely.

No annoying installation of plugins, no need to send emails with URLs back and forth, no administrative overhead needed before starting. It is very easy to use and really simplifies working together remotely.

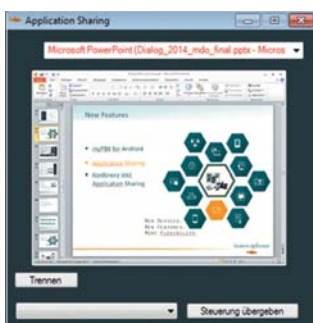

The desire to show your screen content to the other party may arise during a call. Instead of describing the contents verbally with the risk of misunderstanding, it is possible to show the other party exactly what is being spoken about. A single click on the myPBX interface starts the innovaphone Application Sharing, allowing the selected screen contents to be shared with the colleague. All this with no need for any installation, configuration, dial-in or authentication as this was already done via the telephone connection. You may wish to share your screen content to the other party during a call.

Control of the shared application can be passed to a colleague or his request for control can be accepted. The person who granted the approval has control of the application. Application Sharing with control transfer also works for three-party conferences in the usual innovaphone way: without any need for an additional server.

Internal webinars made easy:

Webinars are set up in the same simple way. The large conference on an innovaphone gateway also offers Application Sharing for all subscribers. After dialing into the conference, subscribers see the presentation on the computer automatically and without any extra settings. It couldn't be easier to set up webinars.

Licensing

The innovaphone Application Sharing solution is integrated in the Unified Communications client myPBX.

To use the innovaphone application sharing solution, one port license, one myPBX license as well as one Application Sharing or Unified Communications license are required per user.
